Recording checklist

- Record in the quietest room you have. A closet full of clothes works great because it soaks up echo.
- Hold the phone or mic about a hand's length (15 to 20 cm) from your mouth, slightly to the side so your breath doesn't hit it.
- Drink water first, and record three full takes. Pick the best one.
- Trim the start and end in a free editor like Audacity. Export as MP3.
- Check the timing: Script 1 should land between 28 and 32 seconds, Script 2 between 55 and 62.
